

2. We can determine the answer by consulting the periodic table on the inside back cover of the text where we find that the element neon has the atomic number 10.