

CHAPTER 18 ONLINE EXERCISES

Objective:

This online activity provides you with the opportunity to visit a personality profile Web site and complete a personality questionnaire.

Click on Online Exercise Links. You will see a list of Web site links that will bring you to personality profile Web sites. Use these Web sites to complete Activities 18.1 and 18.2.

Activity 18.1

1. Select one of the personality profile Web sites to visit.
2. Complete the personality questionnaire offered on the Web site you have chosen. You may have to click on several links within the Web site to answer the personality questionnaire.
3. On a sheet of paper, write a paragraph describing whether you think the personality profile is an actual reflection of your personality. You may want to consider the following questions in your paragraph:
 - a. What questions may have represented your personality better?
 - b. Do you find that the answer choices limit your ability to represent your personality?
 - c. Do you think it is possible to characterize your personality into more than one category?
 - d. Based on what you learned in this chapter, how do you think this questionnaire could be useful for employers?
4. Write your name on your paper and hand it in to your instructor.

Activity 18.2

1. Select one of the personality profile Web sites to visit.
2. Print information on understanding personality. This information should be available after you complete an online personality questionnaire. If the Web site you have chosen does not provide a section on understanding personality, visit another personality profile Web site by choosing a different link.
3. On the back of your printout, make an outline of the information you learned in the article.
4. On a sheet of paper, write a paragraph describing what you learned from your readings of understanding personality. Your paragraph should be based on your outline.
5. Write your name on your paper and each printout and hand it in to your instructor.
