

Contents

Preface xv

PART ONE

CALIFORNIA BEGINNINGS 1

Chapter 1 Geography and History 2

The Origins of California 2

Regional Diversity 5

The Climates of California 8

Chapter 2 The Original Californians 11

Food and Population 12

Aspects of Material Culture 14

Location, Linguistic Groups, Tribes 15

Social Culture 16

Chapter 3 European Exploration and Founding 22

The Finding and Naming of California 22

Cabrillo and Alta California 23

Francis Drake and Nova Albion 25

The Manila Galleon and the California Coast 27

Vizcaíno and Monterey 28

Spain's Indian Policies 29

The Mission as a Frontier Institution 30

Gálvez and the Plan for Alta California 32

The Franciscans and Father Serra 33

The Sacred Expedition 35

Chapter 4	Outposts of a Dying Empire	40
	Bucareli, Anza, and the Founding of San Francisco	40
	Neve and the Pueblos of San José and Los Angeles	42
	Native Resistance	45
	The Impact of the Missions	48
	Attempts at Reinforcement	52
	Exploration of the Central Valley	53
	The Coming of the Russians	54
	The Last Years under the Spanish Flag	55
Chapter 5	A Marginal Province of a Troubled Republic	58
	Government and Politics in Theory and Practice	58
	The Secularization Problem	60
	From Echeandía to Figueroa	61
	Figueroa and Secularization	63
	Alvarado and Provincial Autonomy	65
	The Heyday of the Rancheros	66
Chapter 6	American Infiltration	72
	The Yankee Traders	72
	The Beaver Trappers	74
	Early Settlers	76
	Covered Wagons, 1841 to 1846	79
PART TWO
THE RUSH FOR RICHES		83
Chapter 7	The American Conquest	84
	Overtures, Diplomatic and Undiplomatic	84
	Plans of the Polk Administration	86
	John Charles Frémont	87
	The Bear Flag Revolt	90
	The Mexican War and California	92
Chapter 8	The Gold Rush and Economic Development	98
	Marshall's Discovery at Sutter's Mill	98
	The Forty-Eighters	99
	The Forty-Niners	102
	The Diggings	106
	Early Mining Methods	107
	Mining Camp Law	108

	From an Adventure to a Profession	110
	An Economic Multiplier	111
	The Historical Significance of the Gold Rush	112
Chapter 9	A New State and Frontier Politics	117
	Military Governments	117
	The Constitutional Convention and Its Problems	118
	The First Legislature	122
	The Admission of California to the Union	123
	The Feud between Broderick and Gwin	124
	Movements for State Division	126
	California and the Civil War	127
Chapter 10	Crime and Punishment	130
	The Nature of Vigilantism	130
	The Hounds in San Francisco	132
	The San Francisco Committee of 1851	133
	Statewide Vigilance	134
	The San Francisco Committee of 1856	135
Chapter 11	Racial Oppression and Conflict	140
	Treatment of Mexican Miners	140
	Land-Title Troubles	141
	The Act of 1851 and the Land Commission	144
	Early Discrimination against the Chinese	145
	The “Indian Question”	148
	Episodes in Extermination	150
	Decline and Exploitation	153
	Blacks Enslaved and Free	154
Chapter 12	Culture and Anarchy	158
	Newspapers and Literary Magazines	158
	Writers of the Fifties	159
	Bret Harte	162
	Mark Twain	162
	Joaquin Miller	164
	Ina Coolbrith	164
	Churches and Schools	165

PART THREE
THE RAILROAD ERA 167

Chapter 13 Building the Central Pacific Railroad 168

- Early Transportation 168
- Judah and the Conception of the Central Pacific 169
- Enter the Four “Associates” 170
- Federal and State Support 172
- Difficulties and the Death of Judah 174
- Solving the Problems of Construction 175

Chapter 14 The “Terrible Seventies” 179

- The Onset of Depression 179
- Transportation Monopoly 180
- Land Monopoly 184
- The Comstock and Overspeculation 187

Chapter 15 Political Turmoil and a New Constitution 191

- The Increase of Anti-Chinese Sentiment 191
- The Workingmen’s Party of California 194
- The Constitution of 1879 197
- The Frustration of Reform 198
- Chinese Exclusion and Segregation 199

Chapter 16 Economic Growth 201

- The Wheat Bonanza 201
- Wines 202
- The Citrus Industry 203
- The Rise of Southern California 206
- Water and Land 208
- Electric Railways and Urbanization 210

Chapter 17 Culture and Oligarchy 214

- Henry George 214
- Ambrose Bierce 215
- Frank Norris 216
- Jack London 218
- Hubert Howe Bancroft 220
- Lords of the Press 222
- The Arts and Architecture 223
- Schools, Colleges, and Universities 225

Chapter 18 Politics in the Era of Railroad Domination 230

- The Colton Letters 231
- The Huntington-Stanford Feud 232
- Los Angeles Fights for a Free Harbor 232
- The Funding Bill 233
- The Southern Pacific Machine 234
- William F. Herrin 236
- Failure of Nineteenth-Century Reform Movements 237

PART FOURMODERNIZATION AND ITS DISCONTENTS 239*Chapter 19 Labor and Capital 240

- Backgrounds of the California Labor Movement 240
- The Rise of Unions in San Francisco 241
- The Triumph of the Open Shop in Los Angeles 244
- Agricultural Labor: Unorganized and Disfranchised 246
- The IWW 248

Chapter 20 The Roots of Reform 252

- Boss Ruef and the Union Labor Party 252
- The San Francisco Graft Prosecution 254
- The Good Government Movement in Los Angeles 257
- The Lincoln-Roosevelt League 258

Chapter 21 The Republican Progressives in Power 263

- Regulation, Efficiency, and Finance 264
- Political Reform 265
- Woman Suffrage 266
- Public Morals 269
- The Progressives and Labor 270
- The Anti-Japanese Movement 274
- The Decline of Progressivism 277

Chapter 22 The Triumph of Conservatism 281

- The Rise and Fall of the Socialist Movement 281
- The Mooney Case 282
- The Criminal Syndicalism Law 284
- The Decline of Organized Labor 286
- The Collapse of the Democratic Party 287
- The Continuing Decline of Republican Progressivism 287
- The Federal Plan for Reapportionment 289

Chapter 23 New Industries for Southern California 291

- Origins of the Oil Industry 291
- The Oil Boom of the Twenties 294
- The Automobile Revolution 295
- The Movies Discover California 297
- The Rise of “The Industry” 298

Chapter 24 Controversies over Land and Water 303

- The Yosemite and John Muir 303
- The Hetch Hetchy Controversy 306
- The Owens Valley–Los Angeles Aqueduct 307
- The Boulder Canyon Project 309
- The Colorado River Aqueduct 312
- The Central Valley Project 314
- The 160-Acre Limit 315

PART FIVE

THE STATE AND THE NATION 317

Chapter 25 The Great Depression 318

- “Sunny Jim” 318
- Social Messiahs 320
- Depression and Deportation 321
- Labor Strife 322
- Upton Sinclair and EPIC 325
- From Merriam to Olson 328

Chapter 26 Cultural Trends 331

- Robinson Jeffers 331
- John Steinbeck 332
- William Saroyan and Other Writers 335
- William Randolph Hearst and Other Journalists 336
- The Arts 337
- Architecture 339

Chapter 27 Wartime Growth and Problems 343

- The Impact of Federal Spending 343
- Wartime Shipyards 345
- “Americans All” 345
- The Rise of the Aircraft Industry 348
- The Relocation of Japanese Americans 350

Chapter 28 Politics California Style 357

- Nonpartisanship Favors the Republicans 357
- Filling the Void 358
- The Governorship of Earl Warren 361
- The Spurious Issue of “Loyalty” 362
- The Governorship of Edmund G. Brown 366
- Extremists, Right and Left 368

Chapter 29 Industrialized Agriculture and Disorganized Labor 372

- Green Gold 372
- The Empire of Agribusiness 373
- “Farm Fascism” in the 1930s 374
- The Rise and Fall of the Bracero Program 376
- Unionization Breaks Through 378
- Equal Protection of the Laws 381

Chapter 30 Diversity and Conflict 384

- California Indians 384
- Asians 388
- African Americans 390
- Latinos 395
- Gender Matters 399

PART SIXTHE CHALLENGE OF CALIFORNIA 403*Chapter 31 A Season of Discontent 404

- The Growth Rate: Peak and Slowdown 404
- Transportation 406
- Reapportionment 407
- Education 409
- Campus Turmoil 410
- The Hippie Movement 414
- Black Radicalism 415
- The Decline of Radicalism 416

Chapter 32 Culture and Identity 418

- Literature 418
- Painting and Sculpture 424
- Architecture 428
- Music 430

Chapter 33 Recent California Politics 435

- The Conservative Revival 435
- The Era of Limits and Beyond 438
- The Politics of Resentment 441
- The Perils of Moderation 444
- The Politics of Personality 449

Chapter 34 The Environment and Energy 460

- Regional Protection 460
- Biodiversity 464
- Growth Control 465
- Air Pollution and Global Warming 466
- Water Resources 470
- Toxic Wastes 473
- Renewable Energy 474
- Nuclear Power 477
- Petroleum Dependency 478

Chapter 35 The New California Economy 482

- The Sunbelt Shift 482
- The Pacific Rim 483
- Post-Industrialism 486
- High Technology 487
- The Internet Revolution 489
- The Arsenal of America 491
- Tourism 493
- Entertainment 495
- Agriculture 496

Chapter 36 Contemporary California Society 500

- Transportation 500
- Housing 503
- Education 506
- Health Care 512
- Criminal Justice 515
- The New Californians 518

Index 527