

8. Nine hours represent yet another half-life, so one half of the 250 original atoms that remained after 6 hours would decay at the end of 9 hours leaving 125 of the original atoms present.