

CUTTING EDGE VIDEO CLIPS

Load and learn!

- Your new copy of Organisational Behaviour on the Pacific Rim is packaged with a free CD-ROM which contains seven professionally produced local and international video clips, self-assessment exercises and fill-in-the-blanks quizzes.

- Interviews with CEOs (including Sir Richard Branson) as well as footage from BHP-Billiton and Smile School in Japan give you an unparalleled opportunity to contextualise organisational behaviour in a live workplace setting.

- Clips average six minutes in length and profile interesting strategies that reflect principles addressed in the text.

- Each clip is supported by a corresponding video case that summarises the key concepts represented in the footage and in each Part of the text.

- Discussion questions challenge you to explore the issues raised in the video clips.

For instructors

For qualified adopters of Organisational Behaviour on the Pacific Rim, these clips are available on VHS for presentation in lecture theatres. Please contact your McGraw-Hill representative for more information.

NEW SELF-ASSESSMENTS

- The CD-ROM includes nearly three dozen self-assessments that reflect concepts described throughout the text.
- These self-assessments support the active-learning process that help you to understand and remember OB concepts for the long term.
- Most self-assessments are scientifically developed, validated and documented in reputable sources such as Educational and Psychological Measurement, Organisational Research Methods, Journal of Management, Personality and Individual Differences and Academy of Management Journal.
- These self-assessments capture the latest OB concepts, including workaholism, self-leadership, dispositional mood, self-efficacy, empowerment, telework disposition and creative personality.
- Almost all these self-assessments can be completed by full-time students. In other words, these self-assessments do not assume that you are currently employed in the workforce.

Fill in the blanks

- Nearly 200 fill-in-the-blanks questions help you to learn OB terminology and concepts.
- These fill-in-the-blanks quizzes offer you the opportunity to quickly study key concepts.