

Figure 2.11 Specialisation and the Gain from Trade.

When countries specialise according to comparative advantage and trade accordingly both can consume at levels in excess of what would be possible if there were no trade.